REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
2. The Amendment filed on September 11, 2003 has been entered. Claims 1 – 23 have been cancelled. Claims 24 – 31 were presented in a previous amendment which was not entered. Claims 32 – 39 have been added. Therefore, the pending claims are claims 32 – 39.
3. Claims 33 – 37 are allowable since the prior art fails to teach or fairly suggest a SMS nonwoven fabric wherein the meltblown layer comprises a multi-component fiber wherein the first component is an elastic polyolefin and the second component is an elastic polymer. Instead the prior art teaches using bicomponent fibers comprising an elastic component and a nonelastic component in the bicomponent fiber.
4. Claim 32 is allowable since the prior art fails to teach or fairly suggest using the specific bicomponent fiber, having a first component comprised of propylene polymer with a crystallinity of above 70 J/g and a second component comprised of an amorphous polyalphaolefin polymer with a crystallinity below about 65 J/g used in the meltblown layer of spunbond-meltblown-spunbond bicomponent. While the specific bicomponent fiber is known, the prior art does not teach or suggest that this fiber is used as a meltblown fabric layer in nonwoven laminates having spunbond layers and meltblown layers made from bicomponent fibers.
5. Claims 38 and 39 are allowable since while the prior art does teach using multiple meltblown layers together, the prior art fails to teach or fairly suggest using a combination of meltblown layers where one layer comprises monocomponent fibers and one layer comprises bicomponent fibers.
